

Ben Butler, with his usual modest and unaffected air, answering a reporter who asked if he thought of entering for the Presidential contest of 1888, said: "I hope I have arrived at a time of life at which I need, personally, neither to seek or fear Presidential elections." Devilish sly, Ben, devilish sly.

BOODLE ALDERMAN McQUADE will be sentenced today and will at once be sent up to Sing Sing to join his fellow conspirators who are now serving their terms in that prison. There they will shortly be joined by Sharp and Richardson, the bribers and by other Aldermen who helped to consummate the sale of the Broadway surface franchises. The people of New York are thus vindicating their right to self-government and their abhorrence of the boodle business, which has cost them so much of money and good name.

THE friends of the Memphis Bridge Company in Congress are doing all they can to secure the passage of the bill now before the House, and will try to call it up today. This will be good news for our city readers, our merchants especially, who have been chafing at the delay in securing this legislation, which is all that is needed to cap the climax of our present prosperity. Every influence in the city should be united in a hearty endorsement of the attitude of our Representatives and in urging the votes of those of the adjoining States in carrying the measure through.

THE City Council yesterday passed a resolution adopting the report of the Committee of Ten and pledging themselves to take the necessary steps to secure legislation looking to the construction of water works by the city, and the furnishing of an adequate supply of pure, clear water to the people. This is in keeping with the declared policy of the Taxing District government, and will satisfy and gratify the people. It is what they have expected, and is a finality of all controversies as to the city's attitude on this question. Judge Walker will now proceed to draw up a bill and our Representatives and Senators will be requested to secure its passage, so that the work of construction may be entered upon as early a day as possible.

IT is to be hoped that every Democrat in the House will vote for a bill to pay the poor negroes the sums they were robbed of by the mismanagement of the Freedman's Savings and Trust Company. A cruel robbery deliberately planned by the men to whom the depositors had confided their little savings, the government is bound by every consideration of justice to reimburse them. It fattered and fostered that institution and thus became its indorser, and therefore is responsible for its losses. Congressmen should at once pass a bill to liquidate the concern, and instruct the Department of Justice to proceed against the thieves who have gone so long unpunished.

GEN. BUTLER, who, whatever may be said of his political methods, is a man of influence with many thousands, and has always been free and fearless in the expression of his opinions, gave recently to the New York Herald, from which we reproduce it, his views as to the next Presidential campaign. What he says of Henry George's influence and following is quite true. The Democrats cannot carry New York with that following in opposition to them, and something must be done of a practical character to secure that vote and hold it. Labor must be dealt with fairly and honorably. It must be dealt with not after the manner of alms giving or conferring of favors, but as with a distinct political influence and power. It must be considered for all and in all that it is. In this way and this way only can it be won back to the Democratic party, the only political organization that it can look to with certainty.

THE Democrats of Tennessee have a golden opportunity to rise superior to petty personal rancor and factions and elect a statesman to the United States Senate, to elect a man who has breadth and compass and comprehension, who is something more than a platitudinous talker and mere village lawyer. No man can have these necessary requirements who has not had training beyond his county stump. No man can reach after results in national legislation who is without experience, who is wholly without knowledge or grasp of national affairs, and who is not especially in sympathy with the spirit of progress that has taken possession of the South. A man without a rich equipment in ideas and purposes in keeping with the business boom that is now urging the most laggard and indifferent in this section would not only be out of place, but would be a positive power for mischief and to defeat the people's will. To secure such a man the field must be clear and back-stair bargains and canopies must be opposed. The people must have the whole Democratic party to select from. They must have a chance to select the best man, and the best man is the ablest man, the purest man and the most experienced. Fussy and uncertain fossils should be relegated to the rear.

MEMPHIS BRIDGE BILL.

A BIG FIGHT TO SECURE ITS PASSAGE.

The McMinville and Manchester Railroad Bill to Come Up Today—Morrison's Resolution.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—All the Tennessee delegation including Mr. Neal and excepting Messrs. Pettibone and Hancock, are prepared to make a big fight tomorrow to secure the passage of the bill to give Memphis a bridge across the Mississippi. Its importance to Memphis can hardly be over estimated, for the bridge which will afford the opening which has long been needed to the great West, and make Memphis the most important point on the Mississippi south of St. Louis.

The McMinville and Manchester railroad bill also comes up tomorrow. Maj. Richardson is confident of success.

There is every reason to believe the Morrison resolution for the House to go into the committee of the whole on Saturday for the purpose of considering revenue matters will be carried. The Morrison men think they will get a majority of three when the question comes up, while the Republicans claim a majority of five. The whole thing is, however, in a state of great uncertainty, and it is impossible to tell now whether the tariff will be touched by the present Congress.

A Tribute to Gen. Hancock's Memory.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—The friends of the late W. S. Hancock have, as a tribute to his memory, raised a sum of money to purchase a home for his widow. The committee having the matter in charge decided, after consultation with Mrs. Hancock, to purchase a home in this city, where, therefore, she will hereafter make her home.

Pay Without Rebate.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—The Secretary of the Treasury has directed the payment, without rebate, of the interest due January 1, 1887, on the United States 4 per cent. bonds of the loan of 1897, amounting to about $9,000,000, and also the interest on the bonds issued to the Pacific Railway Company, upon the presentation of the coupon and interest checks at the Treasury at Washington, or at any of the subtreasuries. Checks for registered interest will be mailed to bondholders as soon as prepared.

Louisiana Claims.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—The Secretary of the Interior today sent to the Senate the reply of the Commission of the General Land Office to the resolution asking how many claims in Louisiana had been satisfied under the act of June 3, 1858, relating to the location of certain private land claims. The Commissioner says 1472 claims, with an aggregate area of 1,530,400 acres, were wholly or partially unsatisfied at the date of the passage of the act. In 455 of these claims, involving 317,738 acres, scrip has been prepared by the Surveyor General of Louisiana, which has not all been delivered, however. There are, therefore, 1017 claims, involving 912,662 acres, in which the right of indemnity may yet be asserted. The Commissioner says this is an apparent defect in the law or in the rulings in the department respecting adjudicated scrip cases, but thinks that the defect lies in the civil laws of Louisiana, under which parties are enabled to assert their rights to indemnity scrip and in the manner in which claims are presented. He also says the act has been taken advantage of by speculators, who buy unlocated claims at "succession sales" for a nominal sum (usually the cost of a cart) and the scrip, thus securing the amount of land represented by the scrip from the government without benefit to the original claimants or their heirs.

Freedman's Savings and Trust Company.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—The Speaker laid before the House today a report from the Comptroller of the Currency, ex-officio Commissioner of the Freedman's Savings and Trust Company on the affairs of that institution. The report shows that on December 4th there was a balance on hand of $719. The Comptroller makes a strong plea in favor of the assumption by the government of the liabilities of the institution on its depositors. He quotes at length the reports of his predecessors on the subject and says: "More than 15,000 depositors had to their credit at the time of failure of the bank only $5 or less each, and it may be necessary that they should be sought out and paid with as little cost to them as possible. While thousands of others have still to their credit amounts so small as to be entitled to a like share of consideration." He says it would seem proper to allow at least three years for the presentation and auditing of these claims, and suggests January 1, 1890, as a term of final liquidation. He is inclined to think that the estimate of his immediate predecessor, that $1,000,000 would be sufficient to settle all demands likely to be presented, is correct. In his report the Comptroller reflects strongly the former manager of the institution. He says that the Congressional investigation in 1879 revealed nothing but a hopeless tangle of involved and disputed reckonings. Nearly every man of position and means had withdrawn preparatory to the collapse in 1874, and the few that remained had never given adequate attention to the concern. Some of the active managers, the Comptroller says, come under strong suspicion of dishonesty, yet no criminal proceedings have ever been taken, nor has recovery ever been attempted through process of law.

Industrial Home for Polygamous Wives.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—The Secretary of the Interior, in response to a letter from Senator Edmunds, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, asking for information as to a supposed difficulty or want of harmony in Utah concerning an item in the miscellaneous appropriations of $40,000 to aid in the establishment of an industrial home for polygamous wives and their children in Utah, has transmitted to the Judiciary Committee the annual report of the Hon. Caleb W. West, Governor of Utah, which contains a reference to the industrial home and a copy of a letter from Mrs. Angie F. Newman, of Lander, Neb., in which she vigorously protests against Gov. West's interpretation of that portion of the act making the appropriation. Mrs. Newman writes that the wishes of the members of the Industrial Christian Home Association of Utah, through whose active instrumentality the appropriation was secured, have been disregarded by the Board of Control contrary to the spirit of the law. She also criticizes the methods thus far pursued by the board, and intimates that all the labor and money expended by the promoters of the enterprise is in the danger of being sacrificed to mismanagement and mismanagement. Mrs. Newman asks for a legal opinion of the extent of the act, as to its intention to include in the management of the Home the association of control referred to. The present Board of Control consists of the Governor, the Justices of the Supreme Court and the District Attorney of the Territory.

Gen. Miles Vindicated.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—An order will shortly be issued by the President adding Southern California to the Department of Arizona, under command of Gen. Nelson A. Miles, and removing his headquarters from Prescott, Ariz., to Los Angeles, Cal. This will give Gen. Miles the command of the whole Mexican frontier, from Texas to the Pacific. The territorial extension of the limits of his command is said by Gen. Miles' friends to be a sufficient answer to the charge which has been made that he disobeyed orders in the Apache campaign.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

To Be Hanged—A Gin House Destroyed by Fire.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., December 16.—News from Newport, Ark., today, says Abner Chambers, the negro who killed James Williams, a white man, last summer, has been sentenced to hang at that place, January 21, 1887. A fire in this city at 10 o'clock this morning destroyed the gin house of Mr. Fred Hanger, corner of Third and Bird streets; loss $10,000, fully insured. The house, nine blocks away, cotton seed and lint cotton, which was also totally destroyed.

A Judgment for $1500 Against the Iron Mountain Road Granted—Assignment.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., December 16.—J. C. McMenroe, a merchant at Bailey, Tenn., got a judgment before the United States District Court here for $1500 against the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railroad. The suit was for $5000, claimed by the plaintiff for having been ejected from a train on the above road at Alexander, Ark., eleven miles south of here, last August. He was refused a permit, and the conductor took up a stopper ticket on which he was traveling, and he intended stopping off at Mulvany Junction, on the Iron Mountain and Hot Springs railroad. Anderson & Vaughan appeared for plaintiff, while Dodge & Johnson represented the road.

Today F. C. Sims, a grocery merchant, assigned to C. B. Davidson in behalf of his creditors. Carl & Toby, wholesale Markham street grocers, and Raffle & Fletcher, attorneys, got preferred $5000 and $500 respectively. It was a small concern.

A Big Fire Raging.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., December 16.—A fire has just broken out here, at 12:30 o'clock, which says a grocery store at the corner of Ninth and High streets is on fire and will be destroyed. Other property is in danger and the department is making for the scene with all possible haste. Particulars impossible to get at this hour.

Later, at 12:40 o'clock the flames are spreading to adjoining buildings and everything is being swept. The nearest water plug is four blocks from there and considerable time will be lost before water can be got to the flames. The houses, nine blocks away, present a lurid appearance. It is thought all the property in the block will be destroyed.

1:30 A.M.—The department, after much difficulty, have obtained sufficient hose to give them the use of two engines on the fire and the flames indicate that the fire is under control. A courier just in from the configuration says that the fire started in J. L. Blackard's grocery store, corner of Ninth and High streets, from an exploded lamp, and that within half an hour the houses in the block were either destroyed or in flames. The lateness of the hour renders particulars impossible to tonight. All the property destroyed is of frame construction so that the loss will not be very heavy.

KNOXVILLE, TENN.

The Largest Marble Works in the World.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., December 16.—A contract was made today for an addition to the marble mill of W. H. Evans & Sons. When completed it will make it the largest marble plant in the world. The building will be 300 feet long, three stories high and will have twenty-eight gauge saws, six rubbing beds and other valuable and extensive machinery. The largest plant now standing has twenty-four saws, cost $75,000, and employs 300 workmen. This will have twenty-eight saws, employ 400 workmen and cost $90,000. The whole of the Evans Sons' mammoth establishment will be moved to Knoxville from Baltimore in the near future.

The store of McKay & Loop, at Morristown, was blown up last night by the explosion of a keg of powder. Some loose powder about the store were supposed to have caught and communicated to the powder near by. The building was wrecked and the stock of goods almost a total loss.

"Mamma, papa says you weren't pretty last week, but you are today." "Ah! my child, I wish I had never said, today I have Salvation Oil."

NASHVILLE, TENN.
Unavoidable Charge Against Several Councilmen.

NASHVILLE, TENN., December 16.—The Special Committee of the City Council to investigate charges of fraud upon the part of its officials met this evening. Councilman Jones made this charge, five in number, and claiming that two councilmen were interested in a concern from which the city purchased material. The committee, that was not an ex-ante in the Electric Light Company, and that a number of the Board of Public Works and Affairs were stockholders in the bank in which city funds were deposited. The accused gentlemen in some instances denied the charges, but in others proved their innocence, but in one instance showed that their connection with these institutions was in violation of any trust or any provision of the charter. The committee will make a report to the Council at its next meeting.
